PMRExpo 2016, the leading European trade fair for Professional Mobile Radio and control rooms, continues to develop PMRExpo will take place for the 16th time from 22 to 24 November at Koelnmesse. Ralf Jäger, North Rhine-Westphalia Minister of the Interior and Local Government, will once more assume the patronage. Over one hundred exhibitors have already booked a stand.

The trade fair and the accompanying programme of presentations develop further from one year to the next. The PMR Conference, the Congress on Control Centres and the Specialised Forums will be complemented by the new PMR Specialist Conference for Utilities.

The topics at this year's PMR conference will be devoted, for example, to the criteria for secure communication and information systems, radio within the scope of smart grid and smart metering, the shared use of public systems, IT security and further current topics relating to PMR. The Congress on Control Centres will give attendees the latest information on, inter alia, cyber security in the context of public safety control centres, LTE in the context of control centres, the launch of eCall and public safety control centres as cloud services. The six specialist fora will concentrate on and devote themselves to a panel discussion with the public on particular aspects of topics concerning Professional Mobile Radio. The Specialised Fora will take place at the heart of the trade fair, and all visitors with a valid entrance ticket may attend. The focuses will be: the PMR Forum – an overview of countries, the International Public Safety Forum, Indoor Coverage Forum, the Career Forum – graduates ask, recruiters reply, the Specialist Trade Forum and the Energy Industry Forum.

PMRExpo Career has now developed its potential for career opportunities further. It consists of two "Take-off!" and "Jobboard" programmes and offers a recruitment platform for businesses in the PMR industry and for the further development of job-seekers with and without professional experience. “Career-Jobboard” enables businesses to publish situations vacant both on the PMRExpo website and at the trade fair itself.
